2009 saw Bethel lose another police chief and revisit the idea of dismantling its Police Department in favor of contracting with the Oxford County Sheriff's Department. 2010 will bring the question to a vote.

In 2003 the town considered such a move, but the proposal was soundly defeated by voters at Town Meeting, 119-507. But despite that clear expression of voters' will — at the time at least — this year several factors coalesced, prompting town officials to reconsider the option.

The first was the resignation in September of BPD Chief Alan Carr.

Carr, who assumed the position in 2004 after the firing of Chief Darren Tripp, was the subject of controversy in the latter part of his tenure.

After clashes in 2008 with former Town Manager Scott Cole, Carr resigned in September 2009 under the watch

Les Otten tosses his hat in race for governor

Les Otten, who built Sunday River Ski Resort one of the biggest ski resorts in the East, made his move to the political arena in 2009 with an announcement he would run for governor.

Otten formally threw his hat in the ring in October, announcing he would run as a Republican.

He joined a field of a half-dozen candidates.

Otten arrived at Sunday River in 1972, as its manager. He went on in 1996 to establish the American Skiing Co. and, in 2002, to become a part-owner of the Boston Red Sox.

In his most recent venture, Otten co-founded Bethel-based Maine Energy Systems, which promotes the sale and distribution of wood pellets and pellet-fired boilers.

He also chaired Gov. John Baldacci's Wood to Energy Task Force.

Otten made his first formal appearance in Bethel as a can-

A.P. — 911 tie, economy, renewable energy among decade's top state stories

ASSOCIATED PRESS

The World Trade Center terrorist attacks in which the ringleader visited Portland, and the Great Recession that rocked both Wall Street and Main Street serve as infamous bookends to a difficult first decade of the 21st century. They also stand out as the decade's top stories in Maine.

Seven Mainers died at the World Trade Center's twin towers and at the Pentagon on Sept. 11, 2001, in the deadliest attacks on U.S. soil. The next day, Mainers awoke to the startling revelation that Mohamed Atta and another terrorist had started that fateful day at the Portland International Jetport.

The decade ended with more bad news as a financial crisis caused a Wall Street meltdown and sent unemployment soaring in the biggest recession since World War II.

Other top stories selected by The Associated Press told of social change through gay rights legislation, the closing of Brunswick Naval Air Station, and the birth of a renewable energy industry.

Former Gov. Angus King experienced the peak of the Internet bubble in early 2000 and the tragedy of the terrorist attacks a year later.

Highs and lows punctuated the decade, with the economy soaring and then tumbling, energy prices spiking and then falling. "I have a hard time characterizing this decade," the two-term independent governor said. "It's probably one of the few times you've found me speechless."

Compounding the recession in the state's midcoast was the decision to close the Brunswick Naval Air Station, where 4,000 Navy personnel once were stationed. The base closure commission, meanwhile, added jobs to the Portsmouth Naval Shipyard in Kittery and a defense finance center in Limestone.

A lengthy gay rights battle culminated with the Legislature's passing in 2004 of an anti-discrimination law, which was upheld at the ballot box a year later. But state voters rejected gay marriage in 2009, setting aside a law passed by the Legislature recognizing same-sex marriage.

SIGNS IN GENERAL

To the Editor:

My wife and I were passing Telstar recently, and both of us commented on what an improvement the new sign was. It has a clean, modern look and really promotes the school as a fine facility. In reading the photo caption in last week's paper I felt as though I'd stepped into a fable. Is it red? Is it amber? Are there 17 mattresses over the pea or only 16? Hopefully the owners will "do the right thing" and put on another mattress.

Over the years I've often questioned whether or not Bethel is business or even future-oriented (and I know from conversations with many other small businessmen and women I'm hardly alone). Most any community will experience some tension between those who wish to live in the past and those who want the area to grow and prosper. Our local sign ordinance is so restrictive that I've seen businesses that never got any business because their signs were so ridiculously sized and placed as to make them for all effects and purposes invisible.

I don't suppose my opinion will change anything. I'm just expressing what many feel. If the majority wish to assure that Bethel of tomorrow always looks like Bethel of yesterday that is their right and I sympathize, but if they wish to also have a community with a healthy economy, creating jobs for the young Bethelites of tomorrow, then they must consider businesses' needs as well.

USEFUL H1N1 TIPS

To the Editor:

The spread of the H1N1 flu has been decreasing lately. Many may be asking whether getting the vaccine is still important. What many don't know is that flu season typically lasts through May, and past pandemics have occurred in waves. So, it's possible that we will see another increase in H1N1 and/or seasonal flu in the months ahead. Vaccination can also slow down the circulation of H1N1, which can in turn reduce its chances of changing to a more severe form. Below are some useful tips:

Three simple steps to a healthy new year:

1. Getting vaccinated is the best way to protect yourself and your loved ones from the flu. To find the H1N1 and seasonal flu vaccine clinics nearest you, visit www.maine.gov or call 211 for Maine-based clinics, or visit www.flu.gov for clinics elsewhere.

2. Cover your nose and mouth when you cough or sneeze, wash your hands often, and avoid touching your eyes, nose and mouth. Germs spread this way. Stay home if you are sick and avoid close contact with people who are sick. For additional information, see how to prevent and treat the flu.

3. Visit www.maine.gov or www.flu.gov regularly for the latest information. Heard a rumor? Visit Myths & Facts to run a fact check. Have a question? E-mail us at flu.questions@maine.gov or call 211. Want to stay informed? Sign up for the RSS feed or Maine CDC on Facebook or Maine CDC on Twitter for our weekly updates, health advisories, and/or press releases.

If you've been vaccinated already, please share this e-mail by letting others know why the H1N1 vaccine is safe and recommended by health experts. Millions of people have safely received the H1N1 vaccine.

Consider posting a flyer. www.maine.gov and flu.gov offers free outreach materials available in multiple languages. Thank you helping to keep our communities safe.

EDNA'S GREAT 100TH

To the Editor:

What a great party Edna York's family and friends arranged for her to celebrate her 100th birthday on Sunday, Dec. 27, at the Legion Hall in Locke Mills!

The decorations were extensive, there were pictures of her throughout her long life flashing continuously on a screen, and there were scrapbooks to view. There also was a band and a huge birthday cake. These folks thought of everything to make this milestone so meaningful and memorable for this remarkable lady, whom so many of us have had the great privilege of knowing.

I have many memories of Edna, but can only share a few in this limited space. Her father built the East Bethel School building in the late 1920s and Edna was one of the first teachers to provide an education there for my father and his boyhood friend, Mellen Kimball. Seventy years later, Edna would still be around to play the organ at my father's memorial service at the East Bethel Church and later play at Mellen Kimball's service there as well. It is not often that a teacher enjoys such longevity as Edna has.

Another memory I have of Edna is in 1998 when she received the Bethel Historical Society's Noll Award for outstanding volunteer service to that organization. We held the annual meeting that year in East Bethel at the Alder River Grange hall just west of the former school. She provided music for the program and was headed out the door when I stopped her to tell she had better stay for the meeting and that we had a surprise for her. We laughed about this "near miss" for years.

Besides being a teacher, Edna has been a mail carrier and later, with her husband, ran a restaurant on Bethel's Main Street. When she returned to Bethel after many years away living in a number of communities where her husband was town manager, she became a librarian at the Bethel Library. She was one of the "enforcers" who vigorously tracked down those delinquent in returning books to the Library. When one woman protested that she was contributing money to the library with her fines, Edna with her usual pragmatism responded, "Did you not think that someone else might like to read that book?"

When I was preparing my recent Bethel book for publication earlier this year, I had Edna, who had seen so much Bethel history, read the text to see if she noted any errors. I breathed a sigh of relief when she told me that it looked good to her except that her father had not closed his ammunition supply business during World War II as reported in the newspapers of that era. This was a revelation, but sometimes a firsthand source can make a difference in keeping the historic record accurate. Thank you Edna and may you have at least several more years of happy and healthy living.

Police

of new Town Manager Jim Doar.

Carr cited personal reasons for his departure.

The open chief's position, as well as a high turnover rate among other BPD officers, prompted Doar and selectmen to again consider contracting with the Sheriff's Department.

Sheriff Wayne Gallant put together a proposal that would save Bethel an estimated $18,000 a year for the first several years.

Newly selectmen briefly considered joining with Bethel for the dedicated protection, but then decided against it.

In late December the Bethel board set dates of Jan. 11 for a public hearing on the OCS proposal, and Feb. 9 for a special Town Meeting to vote on the question.

Musical chairs for some managers

The front door on the Bethel Police Station is not the only one on the Cole Block to revolve.

2009 marked the conclusion of the decade-long tenure of Scott Cole as Bethel Town Manager.

In late January the Board of Selectmen voted not to renew Cole's contract, which was to expire in June.

The selectmen gave no reason for their decision, but on-going clashes between Cole and various municipal bodies, including the Bethel Water District, Airport Authority and, especially, the Police, no doubt played a role.

Cole was replaced by Jim Doar, 31, the former town manager of Rumford.

Doar's contract calls for him to earn $52,000 during his first year here. The figure is $25,000 less than Cole was paid in his final year.

In October Cole agreed to take the position of Oxford County administrator, at an annual salary of $59,000.

He will work out of the Oxford County courthouse in South Paris.

Come January the town manager of South Paris is expected to be yet another former Bethel town manager, Phil Tarr.

Tarr served here from 1997 to 1999, when the then Board of Selectmen opted not to renew his contract, and hired Cole.

View from six months
Doar this week offered this assessment of his first six months as Bethel town manager:

It has been a busy first six months and we have taken on a lot of projects, the most significant of which is working through how best to provide law enforcement services to the citizens of Bethel.

We are also looking at ways to lower energy costs around town, and at the Waste Water Treatment Plant in particular; we are studying ways to lower operating costs in every department and everyone has been asked to do a little more with a little less.

In the future we will have to initiate a process to update the town's comprehensive plan, and I see a need to revise how we think about budgets and track spending so that the tradeoffs we make when deciding what to fund and what to spend are transparent in terms of impacts to service.

I think this will also help us to benchmark performance so that we have a baseline we can improve upon.

We are lucky in that the town is in a great position financially, which will help to somewhat alleviate the tough budget season we have in front of us.

After working with the staff for six months, and getting a better understanding of what everyone's strengths are, I see that the town employees are a smart, dedicated, hard-working bunch and that whatever problems arise they will be able to find creative solutions that allow us to provide consistently good services to the townspeople.

What impresses me so far about town employees is that they take the job of providing value to the taxpayer to heart. They are always willing to do a little bit extra.

G'wood voters reject land-use regs

By MICHAEL DANIELS

For much of 2009 supporters of a proposed Land Management Ordinance for Greenwood were embroiled in a hard-fought campaign to put the decision directly to town voters.

They persisted in the face of numerous procedural setbacks, and, on occasion, open hostility — as in March, when an out-of-town contractor left a telephone message with one supporter threatening to anchor party boats five feet off his shoreline "and have a bit of a party during the summer down there."

But the supporters slogged on, and eventually prevailed — in November the ordinance went to vote at a special Town Meeting.

But it proved a pyrrhic victory.

At the long-sought Town

Meeting, a standing-room-only crowd of townspeople overwhelmingly defeated the proposal.

The ordinance rejected by voters was 39 pages long and would have replaced the town's current building code, which is less than a single page in length.

Supporters argued the lengthy update, the result of more than five years of work, was needed to protect the character of the town, especially its hillsides and ridgelines.

"What this ordinance does," said resident Henry Stewart at an October public hearing, "is not prevent building — it only regulates it, and I think that is necessary to keep this community the very special place that those who live here believe it to be."

But opponents countered

the ordinance took away their property rights, and they questioned the competence of the Planning Board to administer it.

And some worried that if the ordinance were passed, large landowners would retaliate by closing snowmobile trails.

Further discussion of the ordinance at the Town Meeting lasted only half an hour; then, on a secret ballot, voters rejected it 41-137.

At year's end Planning Board member (and ordinance supporter) Jim St. Germain said that as a package, the 39-page version was dead in the water.

But, he said, he remains hopeful some elements of the plan could be implemented incrementally over time, "because this is just too beautiful a place to screw up."

Tank cars jump tracks in Gilead

A 19-car train derailment in Gilead prompted an evacuation and tied up traffic on nearby Route 2 for much of a summer Saturday.

The 82-car St. Lawrence & Atlantic freight train was westbound on the afternoon of Aug. 15 when a quarter of its cars jumped the track on a curve.

Of the 19 cars off the tracks, 11 were tankers. Concerns about possible hazardous liquids prompted emergency personnel to evacuate nearby residences and block off traffic on Route 2, which runs adjacent to the tracks.

The derailment ruptured one of the tanker cars, but it turned out that all of them had been empty.

A subsequent inspection by a Haz Mat team determined nothing had leaked onto the ground or into the air.

Route 2 reopened that evening, but the cleanup work took several days.

Emergency personnel from eight area towns, as well as several state agencies, responded to the accident.

The accident, they noted, could have been much more serious had it happened in a more populated area and had the tankers been loaded.

Top local stories of 2009 SAD44 forced to cope with budget cutbacks

School consolidation, a struggle to balance the budget, and a failed school-construction vote made 2009 a challenging year for SAD44.

And 2010 could be tougher. In January SAD44 residents approved a plan to merge with Union 37 (Rangeley) in order to comply with the state's school consolidation law.

But in a separate referendum the same day, residents of Union 27 turned down the plan.

The law required that school systems that did not comply—even those who voted favorably for a plan when their proposed partners did not—pay a fine.

But SAD44 escaped that fate in June, when the state decided the district should be exempt from consolidation, because of its geographic isolation.

June also brought approval of SAD44's $9.67 million FY'10 budget.

But in a difficult economic climate, the figure represented a return to FY'07 budget levels, because the School Board had made reductions to compensate for a large drop in state aid.

The start of the school year in September brought further belt-tightening, as Superintendent Dave Murphy instituted a spending freeze.

The freeze anticipated a "curtailment," or cutback in the funding that had been promised by the state.

A curtailment figure of $250,000 was announced in December.

The 2010-2011 school year could present an even bigger challenge, with another drop in state aid, another anticipated curtailment, and little district money available from this year's budget to carry over.

SAD44 could face a deficit estimated at more than $1.7 million.

In January the School Board is expected to begin considering its options.

Addition

A proposal to build an addition at Telstar high/middle school was likely a victim of the tough financial times.

In July SAD44 officials floated the idea of using an interest-free loan, available through federal stimulus funding, to build a $5 million addition at Telstar.

The plan called for a theater and second gymnasium.

A public hearing drew mixed reviews, with some residents voicing their concerns about taking out a loan, even at no interest.

But because opinion was divided, the School Board decided the project's fate should be in the hands of voters.

The question went to referendum in November. It was defeated by a 3-2 margin.

Apparent West Bethel car-train accident leads to murder charge, acquittal

What appeared at first to be a car-train accident in West Bethel in February proved later to be a case of murder.

But the only man accused in the case, Agostino J. Samson, 23, of Windham and Bethel, was ultimately found not guilty of the crime.

The victim, Scott Libby, 25, was found dead in his car early in the morning of Feb. 20.

The car was sitting on the train tracks about 200 feet from the Barker Road crossing in Bethel.

The incident was first investigated as an accident, but police soon became suspicious that Samson's injuries were not consistent with the relatively light damage suffered by his car.

Investigators later said they believed Libby, also of Windham, had been strangled and beaten.

In early March Samson, who lived at the nearby Bethel Hostel and worked in Bethel as a cook, was arrested and charged with murder.

There had been reports of an altercation between the men the evening before Libby was found dead.

But on September 22, an Oxford County Superior Court jury found Samson not guilty.

SAD44 flu clinic scheduled

BETHEL—A flu clinic will take place on Saturday, Jan. 9 from 9 a.m. to noon at Crescent Park School for SAD 44 students in the following categories: students age 8 and younger at Crescent Park School who need a second seasonal flu vaccine; all elementary students age 9 and younger who need a second H1N1 vaccine; and seasonal flu vaccine for students in grades 9 to 12. Permission forms must have already been received.

Bethel to harvest town forest

BETHEL—Selectmen decided Dec. 21 to harvest $15,000 worth of timber from the 100-acre town forest off Route 2, instead of selling the land—at least for now. The board asked Town Manager Jim Doar to look into the possibility of listing the lot for sale. But research showed putting it up for sale in the current market would not likely be worthwhile. Part of the lot also serves as a sludge dumping site for the town's wastewater treatment plant. Doar recommended the town hold on to the property for at least a year, timber it, and perhaps revisit selling it in the future.

In the guide, Inland Fisheries and Wildlife biologists tell what fish have been stocked and where and give their picks of some of the state's best ice fishing hot spots. The guide is available on the department's Web site. The ice fishing season begins Jan. 1 for most of the state and continues through the end of March.

Economy

nounced that the Ethan Allen sawmill was closing.

Again, poor economic conditions were cited.

Andover residents made up a quarter of the affected workforce; the remainder came from other towns in the River Valley and Oxford Hills labor markets, where unemployment at the end of November was at 15.1 and 10 percent respectively, compared with 8 percent statewide in Maine and 8.5 percent nationwide.

But 2009 also brought encouraging signs for Oxford County, Walbridge said.

Discussions have begun between the Maine State Housing Authority and two Oxford Hills manufactured-housing firms, Kaiser Homes and KBS, with the aim of stabilizing and regrowing that beleaguered segment of the western Maine economy.

A new outdoor Oxford Hills concert venue is also in the planning stage, she said, one large enough to attract major national performers.

And in Andover, the closed Ethan Allen mill is being purchased by two local investors.

Topnotch snow-making seen as rainmaker for local economy.

They plan to gradually reopen it, Walbridge said, creating jobs and keeping the property on the tax role.

"They're quite intent on hiring back local workers," Walbridge said, "and that touched me deeply."

At Sunday River, General Manager Dana Bullen said Tuesday that some of the employees released in May have been brought back, if in different capacities.

As for current ski season, Bullen acknowledged it's off to an inauspicious start weather-wise, but he saw a silver lining even to that.

Bullen argues that when the weather doesn't cooperate, Sunday River's highly regarded snowmaking capacity is even more of a rainmaker for the Bethel-area economy.

"What makes Sunday River different is our snowmaking. That's one of the reasons we've been able to be open consistently since Oct. 14 [initially weekends only]."

"No other resort even touched the Oct. 14 opening," Bullen said. "And when they did try to open early they weren't able to sustain it."

"That led to really strong reservations at Christmas time, and it just reinforces the fact that even in a hard winter Sunday River separates itself because of the snowmaking capacity that's been built up over the years."

Condor

But the ANG is proposing to lower the floor to 500 feet above ground level (AGL), arguing that the current minimum-altitude restriction makes it impossible for pilots to train for the types of missions they are likely to be called on to fly, especially post-9/11.

But well before 911 the ANG had been making a similar argument.

In 1991 it proposed lowering the Condor floor to 300 feet ANG in order to provide for more realistic training of its reservist pilots.

That proposal was immediately assailed by area residents, the entire Maine Congressional Delegation, and, eventually, even the federal Environmental Protection Agency.

Opponents claimed the flights were unnecessary, and that noise from the low-level fighters would undermine the region's quality of life and undermine the crucial tourism industry.

When the fog of bureaucratic and political battle had cleared, the ANG dropped its plan — but not before producing a three-inch-thick Environmental Impact Statement.

This year the ANG was back with another proposal to lower the floor.

And while the arguments for and against the plan were similar to those in the past, the environmental analysis was another matter.

Instead of two thick volumes of facts and figures, this time around the ANG presented only a slim (8 inches in all) page Draft Environmental Impact Statement EIS.

At a November public comment session on the EIS more than 50 people signed up to share their thoughts.

Two of those people spoke in favor of the Guard's proposal, but the rest challenged both the overflight proposal itself and its EIS.

Maine State Rep. Jarrod Crockett (R-Bethel), a combat veteran and major in the Maine Army National Guard, didn't mince words — blasting the EIS as a "half-hearted" rehash "pencil-whipped" up by the Massachusetts military in anticipation of an FAA "rubber stamp."

And he noted that the EIS ignored specific questions asked by public officials, including Gov. John Baldacci, both of Maine's U.S. senators, a U.S. representative and numerous state-government officials.

"Respect for civilian authority is paramount to any military organization," Crockett said, "and anything less is unacceptable."

At year's end — promises
Crockett said Wednesday, "the Mass. Air Guard is continuing its efforts to expand the Condor MOA."

"They have promised to answer many of the concerns raised by the numerous elected officials, and more importantly the concerned citizens, in another, final, Environmental Impact Statement."

"The revised EIS and public comments will then go to the FAA for a final determination."

"The outcome is still up in the air at this time," Crockett said.

'The Blizzard of 2010'?

While The Citizen is reluctant to get into the weather-prediction business, it appears there's a chance Sunday River's snowmakers may get a well-deserved rest over the first weekend of the new year.

On Wednesday some forecasters were saying that the elements appeared to be lining up for a major storm at week's end, perhaps on the scale with the Blizzard of '78.

From The Bethel Citizen, Feb. 9, 1978:

A winter storm of blizzard proportions hit the local area on Monday night and continued until early Tuesday evening. A reliable determination of the snowfall was difficult due to windy conditions prevalent during the duration of the storm. Reports of a 30-inch snowfall at Sunday River Skiway by early Tuesday afternoon, with 20 inches in Rumford would seem to indicate that at least 20 inches fell in the Bethel village area.

Schools of SAD44 were closed on Tuesday and some places of business closed their doors early because of the storm.

The same storm caused extremely high tides along the Maine coast, causing great loss in communities along the shore. Some areas of southern New England continue to be crippled by the storm's aftermath.

didate Tuesday evening, speaking at the Bethel Inn Conference Center.

The Republican primary will take place in June.

Sunday River 50th

The mountain that Otten grew into a ski industry giant celebrated its 50th anniversary ry this year.

On Dec. 19, 1959 a small group of Bethel-area businessmen opened Sunday River in Newry.

The first few trails were located on Barker Mountain, also the location of the first lodge.

Under Otten, the resort expanded to eight peaks, three lodges and hundreds of condominiums.

On Dec. 19, 2009, Sunday River celebrated with events at South Ridge Lodge.

The Way I See It

by Sharon Bouchard

I sincerely hope that everyone reading this had a wonderful Christmas. I certainly did. My children and grandchildren came to my house Christmas morning and a great time was had by all, especially the grandkids, who I totally indulge.

The months I spent shopping for gifts and the endless hours of wrapping was over in a 20-minute frenzy of flying wrapping paper.

After everyone left, my living room looked like a hanger. The floor was a sea of wrapping paper, boxes and bows. After all the shouts of glee and general chatter the silence was deafening. My husband and I just sat there amidst the holiday debris smiling with contentment. I wouldn't trade Christmas mornings at my house for anything in the world.

Now here we are on New Year's Eve and I hope that you all have a very happy new year.

I imagine that some of you made some New Year's resolutions, as that is the custom. Lifestyle changes always top the list and I wish you luck if you resolved to improve yours.

My husband made a few resolutions this year too, but they were for me not for him. They included such things as "I will be more obedient,"

"I will be more attentive to his needs," and "I will not contradict him when I think he is full of it (which, is most of the time)." His resolutions really don't stand much of a chance, I can tell you that!

Personally I don't make any resolutions. I used to but I generally broke them by January 2. A few times I kept them until the end of the month, but I don't recall ever making a New Year's resolution that I actually kept. So, I do not make New Year's resolutions.

Personally I don't make any resolutions.

I do, however, have hopes for 2010. Like everyone, I do hope for health and prosperity in the coming year and I certainly hope for world peace. I hope for a resolution to the war in Iraq and the safe return of the men and women in the armed forces.

I hope that the upcoming election year will go a lot smoother than a few in the past. I hope that the politicians will focus on the important issues instead of delving into negative campaigning against their opponent. That should go about as well as my husband's resolutions for me.

I hope that my furnace's addiction to oil will be somewhat curbed by mild temperatures and I hope that gas prices will reach an all-time low instead of an all-time high. Not much chance of that either!

I hope that in 2010 I will find all the things I misplaced in 2009 including some Christmas gifts I bought last summer and don't have a clue where I put them.

I hope that my neighbor will get the muffler on his car replaced so when he starts revving it at 5:30 a.m. I won't have to hear it.

I hope that my computer and I will come to an understanding that if it doesn't give me "Error Messages" I won't call it obscene names.

I hope that in 2010 I will get out and weed my garden more than a couple of times and that the nasty red bugs that have been dining on my lilies for the last couple of years move onto higher ground.

And, finally, I hope that each and everyone of you have a peaceful and productive new year. That your joys will be many and your sorrows few. That even one hope that you have for 2010 will become a reality and that the love of your friends and family will embrace you the whole year through.

A Very Happy New Year to you all.

From the Bethel Police Log:

Tuesday, Dec. 29

At 1 a.m. Officer Anthony Keach responded to Main Street for a report of an assault and criminal mischief that had occurred in a parking lot. The complainant said two subjects had broken the mirror on his truck and pushed him several times. Several other subjects in the area said they had not seen who broke the mirror. The officer later spoke with a subject who said his adult son had broken the mirror and pushed the complainant. The father and complainant agreed to meet the next day and the son would apologize and they would pay for the damage.

(Time not available) Officer Bill Britting responded to a report of a suspicious vehicle on the Paris Road, with two occupants. Zachary L. Fritz, 27, was given a summons for operating with passenger/open container of alcohol on a public way.

Monday, Dec. 28

At 4:16 p.m. Officer Crystal Aylward received a report of a property-damage accident involving two cars.

At 5:39 p.m. Officer Crystal Aylward received a report of a car off the road on Martins Lane. A state trooper was on the scene when the officer arrived and had taken the report.

At 8:40 p.m. Officer Crystal Aylward received a report of a car-pole accident on Route 5. There were no injuries. The pole was snapped in half but was still upright. CMP was notified.

Sunday, Dec. 27

At 4 a.m. Officer Jason Goff responded to Vernon Street for a report of domestic assault. A subject was treated at the scene for an injury. The incident is under investigation.

At 11:45 p.m. Officer Anthony Keach conducted a welfare check on the Flat Road.

Saturday, Dec. 26

At 10:38 a.m. Officer Rusty Daley responded to Route

2 in Gilead to assist a state trooper with a single-vehicle accident with possible injuries. The officer stayed with the vehicle and occupants until the trooper arrived.

At 2 p.m. Officer Jack Taylor responded to a residence for a report of shots fired, the same location that had a similar complaint the day before. On checking with neighbors, the officer learned that one had been target-practicing in his field. The distance through the woods to the residence was about 500 feet. The shooters were made aware of the severity of their actions and the deadly results that could have occurred.

At 11:20 p.m. Officer Anthony Keach received a request to check Vernon Street for a subject who had not yet arrived home. The caller was concerned he might have gone off the road. The officer checked the street and was then notified the subject had been located.

Friday, Dec. 25

At 1:15 a.m. Officer Anthony Keach met with a complainant at a business regarding a suspicious subject. The officer followed the complainant home to make sure she would be all right.

At 5:20 p.m. Officer Crystal Aylward responded to Mason Street for a report of a telephone threat. A statement was taken.

At 6:36 p.m. Officer Crystal Aylward responded to a business for a report of a shoplifter stealing beer and running out of the store. It was reported the suspect fled in a dark, older model SUV with two other occupants. The plate number given was not on file, and the vehicle was gone when the officer arrived.

At 9:20 p.m. Officer Crystal Aylward responded to a residence for possible bullet holes found in a wall of a house. The officer confirmed it was a hole from a bullet, entering in the bathroom and ending in the closet in the bedroom. The homeowner said that neighbors had been shooting in the afternoon. The officer returned to the residence a short time later for a report of a single gunshot. There was no evidence of anyone having been around the perimeter of the house.

Wednesday, Dec. 23

At 5:40 p.m. Officer Jack Taylor responded to an accident at the Parkway/Route 2 intersection. The offending vehicle had left the scene. The officer used a hacksaw to cut off a piece of broken fender on the other vehicle so it could be driven. On Dec. 24, the driver of the vehicle that had left the scene was located at a local lodging place. The driver, from another country, did not realize the police needed to be involved if there were no injuries.

Oxford County Jail:

New local teen band finding its own sound

By ALISON ALOISIO

Two former "Myth" musicians have morphed into a new band, "Midnite Haze."

Ryan Vail and David Pilgrim, 13, are Telstar Middle School students, and they already have an impressive musical career.

For a year and a half, they played in a four-man local band known as "Myth," made up of all middle-school students.

They wrote their own songs and played rock music at the Sudbury Inn, the Phoenix, the Funky Red Barn and even the Old Port Festival in Portland.

This past summer, Ryan and David, both guitarists, decided to start their own group.

They added Ryan's older brother, Devin, 16, who is a drummer.

"We wanted to take on more of a challenge," said David. Today their focus is on heavier rock and metal.

With the help of Ted and Connie St. Pierre of the Outlook recording studio in Bethel, they're cutting their first CD.

Three original songs, "Dark of the Rising," "You," and "Soul" are already completed. The boys plan another half dozen or so over the next few months.

In the meantime, the band is playing at private parties and benefits. They also recently opened for the Rumford-based band, "Monsta."

"We're trying to get them established," said Dave Bartlett, the Vail boys' grandfather and co-manager.

The band is hoping the community will help get the word out about them, he said.

Ryan, the primary vocalist, has done most of the composing, but David, on bass guitar, and Devin have also added their own ideas and material.

All three boys come from musical families. David's uncle played harmonica and guitar, and the Vails' father, Derek, was a singer who recorded CDs in the 1990s.

David said he was glad to have another Vail in the band. "[Devin is] a really talented drummer," David said.

The St. Pierres are impressed with all the young musicians.

"They have incredible potential," said Ted. "It's pretty good for kids their age to come in and cut three songs like this."

Connie said they have taken music from 1960s artists, like Jimi Hendrix and Led Zeppelin, and adapted it.

"They can pull it off. They've put their own spin on it," she said.

For more on the band, and to hear the three completed songs, go to www.midnitehaze.com.

Bethel

by Nancy Brown

Friends and family celebrated Edna York's 100th birthday with a party at the American Legion Hall in Locke Mills on Sunday, Dec. 27. Among the out-of-town friends and relatives who attended were Kay Eames of Cape Elizabeth who came with her son-in-law, Keith Bowden, of Melrose, Mass., Valerie Bowden of Melrose, Mass., and Barbara White of Newton, Mass. Judith and Mike Colletta came from Woonsocket, R.I. with their granddaughter, Danielle Kirkland, of Coventry, R.I. Also attending were Rachel and Dan Kirkland and their sons, John and Matthew, of Coventry.

Earlier this year the town of Bethel presented Edna with the Boston Post Cane. The cane is also celebrating its 100th birthday this year.

In August 1909, Edwin A. Grozier, publisher of the Boston Post newspaper, sent gold-headed ebony canes to 431 New England towns with the request that each town give the cane to their oldest male citizen. At his death, the cane would be transmitted to the next oldest male citizen. In 1930, after much controversy, eligibility for the canes was opened to women.

The Bethel Historical Society is presenting the "12th Annual New Year's Bethel" on Dec. 31. Scheduled events begin at 5 p.m. and conclude at midnight with the annual New Year's Eve bell-ringing ceremony at the town clock in downtown Bethel. For more information see the holiday guide elsewhere in the Citizen, visit the Bethel Historical Society website at www.bethelhistorical.org or call 824-2908.

The Bethel United Methodist Church on Main Street invites all participants to drop in after the bell-ringing ceremony for a hot drink and cookies. To-go drinks will be available for the ride home.

Christmas Day guests of Doris Fraser were Richard and Nancy Fraser of East Poland and Pat LaRose.

Jane Young spent Christmas Day with her daughter and son-in-law, Kathy and John Marzilli, in Naples. Kathy was also celebrating her birthday.

There will be a blue moon on Dec. 31. This is the second full moon in the month.

West Bethel

by Lorrie Hoeh

Hello from West Bethel. I have been so caught up in Christmas, visiting family, and getting ready for New Year's Eve that I almost forgot to write my column this week. And in fact, I may have submitted it too late for publication. But here goes, anyway.

Over the weekend we had pooh-yuck weather, with rain, fog, mist, freezing rain, melting, dripping, etc. On Monday the temperature dropped slightly and snow finally fell, starting late in the afternoon and continuing until mid evening. I drove home from downtown Bethel right around 4 Monday and encountered slimy, slippery going on Route 2 and the Flat Road. I had opted for the highway, rather than Grover Hill, for just that reason and felt very smart for having done so.

On Tuesday morning we drove over to Black Mountain to watch the cross-country ski sprint races. Grandchildren Molly and Andrew Siegel were participating. We'll be able to tell you something about the outcome next week. Monday's snow should have put the ski course in pretty good shape. The staff and volunteers at Black Mountain do a fantastic job with grooming.

Our Boston family, the Grifins, arrived on Sunday, minus older son, Owen, who had to work at his vacation job. However, he had Tuesday and Wednesday off, so he took the bus from South Station to Portland Monday evening. His parents drove down to pick him up and encountered horrendous road conditions, but finally arrived safely at the bus/train station a little before 7, with his bus due in at 7:15. The weather in Portland was much milder than up here, so they were able to come back with little or no trouble.

We have been seeing chickadees, nuthatches, and the occasional titmouse at the feeders, although still not in the numbers we've seen in years past. There have even been a few goldfinches. The most numerous visiting birds continue to be the woodpeckers, blue jays, and doves. Even the red squirrel numbers are down. I have seen many turkeys here and there along the Grover Hill Road, but none have so far ventured into our back yard. We're ready for them if they do come, with plenty of cracked corn.

We have had a continuous schedule of good dinners, good company, and good family times. Christmas Eve was spent with cousins Eric and Lucia Schwarz, with the Siegel family in attendance, as well as the Schwarzes' son, Peter, and his family. Then on Christmas Day, the Hoehs and Siegels drove to Chesterville to be with the Stancioffs. Our daughter, Cyndy, prepared a traditional German dinner of sauerbraten, potato pancakes, sweet-and-sour red cabbage, and applesauce. I brought made-from-scratch strudel and various German Christmas cookies. Talk about full!

Then on Sunday, a gathering here at the Hoehstead with Grifins, Siegels, and Hoehs, and the menu was roast lamb. Dessert was leftover strudel and cookies! It will be several weeks into the New Year before this grandma is back to normal weight.

I hope you all had as much fun and enjoyment with your families and friends as we had with ours. For the New Year ahead we wish you good health and contentment, and for the world, peace at last. Happy New Year to all!

East Bethel

by Wally Ritz

It is snowing outside as I am writing this, which is better than the rain we had as the roads were starting to get flooded in the neighborhood.

Am happy to report that East Bethel had lots of Christmas cheer going on. Sonny and Bettyann Hastings received presents all the way from Atlanta and their friends Clint and Martha Schaum of Atlanta, Ga., spent a week with them. The weekend of the 19th they really had a great time having a pre-X-mas dinner attended by Jack and Julie Warwick of New Hampshire; Scott and Ellen Franklin with their children Kathryn, John and Summer; Eric and Celeste Hastings with sons Zack and Cam; Jeff and Cathy Hastings with kids Justin and Jennifer; and Jay Hastings. All had a great time.

Jean Grover enjoyed several family gatherings to celebrate X-mas eve and X-mas day with her children, grandkids and great-grandkids.

Earl and Mona Coolidge had a lovely X-mas dinner with Richard and Jen, Cadence and Broughan in Pike Hill, N.H.

Peter Haines had quite the celebration also for the gathering under the X-mas tree and X-mas dinner. Nancy Haines with her friend Harvey Small of Greenwood and her son Joseph; George Haines along with daughter Lisa and son James of Gray; John Carter and partner Cynthia Flores; and last but not least Nancy Mercer.

Here at my house my daughter Katy and husband Jim along with the the grandkids, Ben and Boden, and my son Ryan were here to spend X-mas Day together.

Now on to the Alder River Grange news. Their next scheduled meeting is Jan. 8 at Stan Howe's on Broad Street. For the members there will be a Potluck Supper at 6 p.m. followed by the regular members' meeting at 7 p.m.

Now time to close out the Trivia question. The answer to part one is "Bloody Street" and part two/why is a 10 to 2 result as two say it was given the name due to an Indian massacre, yet 10 agree with the Eva Bean Book of East Bethel which says that "Bill Hillard is said to have stabbed a man who was bleeding profusely all over the vicinity."

In closing, would love to hear from the newer members of the neighborhood, either way call me at 824-3220 or e-mail me han@megalink.net.

Happy New Year to everyone!

Gilead

by Lin Chapman

I hope everyone had a Merry Christmas and had a chance to spend it with their family. This is the last column for 2009. Many wishes for a Happy New Year.

We haven't seen any new birds at the feeder recently. There have been plenty of chickadees, blue jays, goldfinches and mourning doves. There is a woodpecker that shows up occasionally and throws the seeds around.

My brother, Steve McLain, went out Christmas evening for dinner. He and Lise went to Lee and Jennifer Norris' home. Others attending the festivities were Bradley Norris, Aline Dupont, Gerard Dupont and Jarrod and Paige Crockett.

Hugh and I went to Tim and Michele's Friday evening for dinner. The grandchildren, William, Annie, Ajay and Sidney, were there and very excited over Christmas. Michele's parents, Leo and Ann Croteau, her niece and nephew and their mother were also there for dinner. After dinner, the children opened their presents and then after saying thank you to everyone, they hurried off to set up and try out all their new gadgets. Many thanks to Michele for all the hard work she did to prepare all that great food for so many people. Our other son, Chris, called on Friday to wish us a Merry Christmas. They live in St. Cloud, Minn., and were busy shoveling all the snow they got from that big storm.

I got a call from Sue Saunders last Saturday evening. She said that she should be home by New Year's Eve. She had to spend Christmas in Lewiston getting over a second operation on her hip. All seems to be going well this time. We just hope that she gets home soon and takes it easy for a while.

Town Office

This is another reminder that dog licenses are due in January. There will be a $15 fine for any dog licenses paid after Jan. 31. The Town Clerk is available on Tuesday evenings from 5 to 7 p.m. If your dog has a current rabies shot and the information is on file with the Town Clerk, you may mail in the fee and request the license.

The town books close on Dec. 31. All real estate taxes that are not paid by that date will be listed in the Annual Town Report as unpaid taxes. The January meeting of the Selectmen will be about working on the budget for next year. All department heads should get their budgets in before the meeting.

Planning Board

The Planning Board should have a draft ready soon for the Comprehensive Plan that they have been working on for the past couple of years. There will be copies available at the Town Office at a later date. A Public Hearing will be held sometime before the plan goes to the public to vote on it.

Got any news? Call 836-2987 or e-mail chapmal@hotmail.com.

Upton

by Laurie Brown

Although the mixed rain-snow made driving treacherous on Sunday, some folks still made it to the Ladies Aid building for breakfast. The refrigerator has been boxed in with insulation for the winter and hopefully will work as it should, even when the temperatures take another dip.

The moose trails on the snowbanks through Grafton are more plentiful than the ski trails on Saddleback Mountain.

Selectmen will be holding a meeting on Dec. 30 to work on the budget for the annual Town Meeting in March.

It's pretty quiet in Upton as far as I know. The daylight hours are increasing, yeah!

After reading the following snippet, I'm determined to laugh my way through the next cold I get. Laughter is a complex process that requires the coordination of many muscles. It increases blood pressure and heart rate, changes the breathing, reduces levels of some neurochemicals and is a potential boost to the immune system — overall it's very good for us.

Have a safe and happy New Year's eve. See you next year. Selah

Hanover

by Clem Worcester

Another year has slipped into the history books. Hopes are high that 2010 will bring better fortune to area folks who have been struggling through the tough economic times of the past several years. Perhaps our resilient personal constitutions will help lift us to new successes.

Usually in the last column of the year we like to review the events of the past year and pick out some of the top stories.

This time we start out with the Androscoggin River ice rescue last January when four local men pulled Mike Thurston out of the frigid water and to shore after he drove his snowmobile into open water.

In early April Hanover icon Elmer Lyons passed away after a period of declining health in a nursing home. He will be long remembered by many who stopped by his antique shop just to chat. A lovely, caring lady, Joan Howe passed away last summer. Freeman Butler, a Howard Pond resident, passed away this year, also.

One important story for the citizens of Hanover was the successful completion and acceptance of an updated Comprehensive Plan for the town of Hanover. Several years of committee work assisted by Androscoggin Valley Council of Governments established the plan to update the original plan from 1974. The new plan was adopted at the annual Town Meeting on Oct. 20.

Work at the Gardner Roberts Memorial Library continues to be a success story with increases in readership, new books and increased services.

The Hanover Town Office will be closed Dec. 31 and Jan. 1 in observance of the holiday.

Be reminded that dog licenses will become overdue after Jan. 1. If you are going fishing or hunting in January you should have a new license because the old ones expire Dec. 31.

The Hanover Planning Board will meet Jan. 6 at the Hanover Town Office. The meeting starts at 6 p.m.

We send best wishes to Bethel Citizen correspondent Rocky Graham and her husband David Hart who had the misfortune of a fire in their Waterford home several days before Christmas. Hopefully they will soon recover from their loss.

Christmas appeared to be quiet in Hanover. A lot of families gathered together and the exuberance of the grandchildren were anything but quiet. Donna and Clem had guests including Brian, Sara, Kaylynn, Shawnee and Makala Worcester from Carthage; Jenny and Matt Tirrell along with Apollo from Oxford along with Lisa and Henry Theberge and Pete Pearce from Roxbury.

Holiday guests of Bill and Gail Worcester were Daren, Fran, and Wyatt Worcester from Hooksett, N.H.; Brad and Amanda Worcester from Lewiston; Mike, Jenna and Jett Worcester from Greene.

We wish everyone Happy New Year.

Mason

by Richard Grover

Thoughts on reaching 70 — I have now reached that age where I reflect a lot about how things are, how they used to be and where they are going.

For one thing, there are not many new things I want any more. I can't see any need for faster cars, bigger machines, bigger houses and TV sets or any more new electronic gadgets. We have already got so many energy- and time-saving gadgets that we don't have to do anything physical to go anywhere or do anything. Machines do all our work!

As a result, our bodies are getting fatter and we're not living as long. Our minds don't have to do any work either because we have computers to do all our thinking. TV anesthetizes our brains with inane drivel to the point that our young people no longer know how to interact with other real people. We don't even need money any more — just plastic. We don't need to take care of ourselves, because if something breaks or wears out, we just have a "replacement" operation. We even have all kinds of drugs we can take so we can feel good.

Whatever happened to "self sufficiency"? People used to either make do with what they had or learn to do without. Now, they just go to the store or surf the Internet to satisfy their every desire. If they don't want to work, that's okay because the government will provide shelter and money or food stamps to keep them above the "poverty level."

Remember Karl Marx? We in America are getting close to realizing his ideal society. You know. Everyone contributes to the state according to their ability and receives from the state according to their needs. What could be better than that?

Andover

by Melinda Averill

Hello Andover friends. I hope that everyone had a nice Christmas. This was the first year that I was not out shopping on Christmas eve day. This was also the first time that we didn't get Christmas cookies made, we're doing them today! Oh well, better late than never.

A flu Clinic will be held on Jan. 7, 9 to 11 a.m. at the Town Hall for seasonal and H1N1 vaccinations. FMI contact Karen at 392-4031.

The dump will be closed on Friday, New Year's Day. The Town Office will be open their regular hours this week, but the library will have a change — Wednesday there will be evening hours, 6 to 8 p.m. Thursday, open 1 to 4:30, and no evening hours.

The roads were quite slick late Saturday night, with the freezing rain. Sunday it turned over to a slushy mixture. Friday and Saturday they're calling for another snowstorm; hopefully it will be enough for snow machine.

Enjoy the weekend, and Happy New Year!

Newry

by Sylvia Harrington

May all the readers have a great 2010 New Year weekend.

Everyone I have talked with had a wonderful Christmas Weekend with lots of family and friends. Mark and I traveled to Rumford to join Johan and Saul Schwind, their daughter, Rebecca and Brian Dunton from Fayette, and son Philip from Concord, N.H. Our cousin, Claire Marx, from Windham joined the family gathering. It was a great get-together with Johan's usual good cooking.

The Crepe Cabana at Sunday River is building a second Cabana to serve the crowds at the ski slopes.

The Bear River Trading Post still has lots of Kinco insulated work gloves and warm outdoor wear. Don't forget their fourth annual burning of Christmas trees. Everyone is invited on Thursday, New Year's Eve, to bring their Christmas trees to the BRTF lower field where the burning will take place. They will have coffee and a grill so men's prayer breakfast at Pleasant Valley Bible Church in West Bethel.

Ladies breakfast will be held at the Fire Hall on Saturday, Jan. 9 at 9 a.m. This is a potluck breakfast so bring something, a dish to share for the meal. Marybeth Hoover will be showing her artwork. There is no charge for the breakfast but if you would like to give a love gift to Marybeth for her mission trip to New Guinea, you may do so. FMI call 665-2171.

The Woodstock-Greenwood Senior Citizens will meet on Thursday, Jan. 7, at the Town Conference Room. This is potluck so please bring a dish to share and your own place setting. A Silent Auction will be held so bring something for that. Meeting starts at 11:30. New members are always welcome. Dues are due at the January meeting.

Historical Society

The Historical Society Museum represents Woodstock well with all its local memorabilia. The town's people, places and events are well recorded there in exhibits and Ruby Emery's research. The members are also an important resource for you to tap. They remember important things about the town and area. President Olive Risko's research reports are also valuable in this regard. The programs are not always local but they are of general interest to almost anyone. Program chairman Paul Billings works hard on them. The potluck suppers certainly appeal to their stomachs. They are organized by Vicki May Billings. The next meeting is at the Town Conference Room on Saturday, Jan. 9, with a soup (provided) and each one bringing their own sandwich supper at 6 p.m. with program

East Andover

by Joan Stinson-Carney

I hope that you all had a very Merry Christmas, got lots of nice presents, and had a lot of delicious food to eat. My mother and I had a very nice time at my brother's house watching my nieces and nephews open gifts, and have fun. My nephew Matt made Thai food that was very, very good. I'd never had it before and was quite surprised at how good it is.

Do you know the saying that "no good deed goes unpunished"? Well I'm sorry to say that it's true. Last week I tried to bring a sick friend some dinner, she wasn't home, and when I tried to get out of her driveway I got stuck. After about twenty minutes of terror I finally got out to the main road. One good thing that came out of it is that I didn't have to cook dinner that night.

How many resolutions have you made for the next year? I haven't made any; I know I should but if I began the list would be so long that I wouldn't stop writing until next year. So I guess I'll just save ink and paper instead.

Have a Happy New Year's Eve and Day.

See 'ya.

Waterford

by Rockie Graham
Hope everyone had a great holiday and are all geared up for a Happy New Year! As many of you know we had a pre-Christmas disaster.

On Wednesday just after work I was herded out of the shower and told get dressed because the house was on fire. I said "you're kidding right?"

He wasn't. We grabbed a few essentials — in my case I put on my clothes — and the Tasha dog and ran out after calling 911.

I guess others called too. There was no smoke in the house, yet, until we went out the door and let it in. As soon as we went out the door, we were hit by mountains of black smoke. My neighbor, Barbara, grabbed me and brought me to her house to get me out of the smoke, but even there one could smell smoke.

Very soon multiple fire trucks and firefighters showed up. There were so many trucks the whole road was blocked. We can't thank them for all they did, especially Waterford who ran the show and tried to save as much of our belongings as they could. They even pulled Dave's drum sets outside and covered them. Dave and Tasha watched the house burn. The flames were 8 to 10-feet high.

Today I want to thank everyone for all their help. I can't thank everyone individually; I am afraid I would forget a few. But I want to thank Darrel, Rachel, and Travis, Debby Howe, Mary Kay and Randy, Becky and Jeff, Danny McAlister and many others who stopped by and helped us pack up what we left. I know I am leaving people out, but I will have to catch up with them next week.

We also need to thank those who handed us money and checks to help out. From the anonymous Coop donor to the wonderful woman at Reny's, who hearing me tell the cashier what had happened, had the cashier give her a gift certificate and then handed it to me. We are very grateful for that. And Betty's Laundry, who washed a truckload of clothes and didn't charge us.

I know I am forgetting many, so do not be insulted. I am doing this on a borrowed laptop and lucky to be able to send anything at all. Again, Thank You to Everyone!

The important thing is that we are all okay. We are staying at Becky and Jeff's in Norway and can be reached at 743-8547 or our cell which works here 739-9115.

We should still be at Bethel Transfer on Wednesday and Saturday.

God Bless.
Happy New Year.

Albany

by Sheila Dyke
Greetings and Hello from Albany Township.
We hope everyone is keeping warm now that the winter weather is "finally" here! Sheesh! Just because the calendar said that the 21st was the first day of winter doesn't mean that it hadn't been winter before that! As I write this, I am listening to the heater chug along constantly while the wind blusters around the house.

We hope that everyone had a wonderful Christmas. It's been nice having Dyana home for the holiday. The kids, for the most part, are still getting along, although being cooped up inside is starting to wear on everyone's nerves.

2010. I remember as a kid thinking that when it gets to the year 2000 I'd be old; now I'm not quite agreeing with that assessment as a new decade is about to begin. However you celebrate the outgoing of the old year (and decade) and the start of the new, we hope that you will all remain safe, healthy and happy!

Drive carefully out there. The weather of these past few days has made the roads a bit slippery to traverse.

Best wishes for a happy and safe week! God Bless and Keep!

From Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center

The 12th annual New Year's Bethel, sponsored by the Bethel Historical Society, will be featuring a wide variety of activities for a broad audience starting at 5 p.m. with a community potluck supper (those attending please bring a salad, hot dish or dessert to share).

This chemical-free evening will also feature a dragon parade around the Town Common at 6 p.m., a Dr. Mason House candlelight open house also at 6 p.m. as well as bonfire and marshmallow roasting beginning at 7 p.m., sing along at 10:30 p.m. at the Dr. Moses Mason House and finally with a literal ringing in of the New Year at the town clock on Main Street with a variety of hand, sleigh, and ship bell at the stroke of midnight.

Performances of State Street Traditional Jazz Band will be-

MORE ON THE WAY FOR THE NEW YEAR?—The Moses Mason House on Broad Street in Bethel is shown here during a recent snowstorm. The weather report for New Year's Day and the weekend calls for a substantial storm. The Moses Mason House will be one of the venues for the annual New Year's Bethel celebration tonight (Thursday). gin at 7 p.m. and include an interactive family performance for children. Also there will be performance by the Western Maine Senior Players beginning at 8 p.m. Both of these events will be held at the Congregational Church on Church Street.

Advance tickets for the performances are $8 for adults, $6 for children age 6 to 18 and are available at the Bethel Historical Society's O'Neil Robinson House, the Bethel Chamber of Commerce, the Bethel Citizen and Maine Line Products in Locke Mills. At the door on Dec. 31, tickets will be $10 for adults, $8 for children and five and under free. For more information, please call the society at 824-2908 or (800) 824-2910.

New sponsors this week are Rosemary Bunn of Bethel and River View Resort, also of Bethel. Many thanks go to these two sponsors as well as those who have already made contributions.

To become a sponsor, please send all contributions, which are tax deductible as allowable by law, to the society at P.O. Box 12, Bethel, ME 04217.

The names of all sponsors will be prominently listed at the venues unless one wishes to remain anonymous. For more information: 824-2908, (800) 824-2910 or e-mail info@bethelhistorical.org.

Founded in 1966, the Bethel Historical Society, with over 1,100 members, is western Maine's largest and most comprehensive historical agency. The society fosters a sense of place — with a focus on western Maine and the White Mountain region — by collecting, preserving, displaying and interpreting historically significant artifacts and documents for residents, visitors, students, and scholars. Through its exhibits, programs, events, and publications, the society makes the region's history meaningful, accessible, and enjoyable. In 1974, the society acquired the former Broad Street residence of Dr. Moses Mason, which now contains a period house museum, exhibit hall and research library. In 1999, the socety opened the O'Neil Robinson House (next door at 10 Broad Street) to the public for an expanded exhibit program, museum shop space, and administrative offices. During the past forty years, the society's achievements have been recognized by a number of state and national organizations.

From Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

The Mahoosuc Arts Council and Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce forged an historic agreement recently to swap two of their respective signature summer events: The Bethel Art Fair and Mollyock-ett Day.

The Mahoosuc Arts Council will manage and coordinate the July 3, 2010 Bethel Art Fair, which includes fine arts and artisan exhibits, local food vendors and performances, and the Bethel Area Chamber will be administering all aspects of Mollyockett Day, July 17, which includes the annual road race, parade, arts and crafts exhibits, frog jumping contest and much more.

It is a move that made sense to the board of directors on both sides of the equation. The Council, being a nonprofit arts organization with a mission to support the advancement of the arts and humanities seemed to be the logical organizer of the arts event, while the vital business and community-focused mission of the Chamber matches perfectly with the Mollyockett Day community celebration.

Both organizations pledge to maintain many of the traditional elements of each event which the public has come to expect, while infusing new energy and new ideas to help each event reach its potential. For example, the Council is currently working with the Bethel Performing Arts Project on a Maine Art Commission grant to bring the innovative theatrical experience "Porch Plays" to the 21st annual Art Fair as featured performance art. In the meantime, the Chamber is considering expanding the decades-old festival — named for an Abenaki Indian woman — from one to two days of events.

is excited to pass the torch of the Bethel Art Fair to the Mahoosuc Arts Council and look forward to exploring how we can expand Mollycoddett Day to include more events — with the goal of making Bethel even more of a destination that weekend," reflects Robin Zinchuk, the chamber's executive director.

"The Council looks forward to carrying on the traditions of the Art Fair while infusing it with some new ideas. We look forward to using our resources and strengths to make the fair a continued success as we strive to maintain the hard work and integrity that the Chamber upheld for the last 20 years," said Arts Council Chairperson Tera Ingraham.

Mahoosuc Arts Council

A fusion of dance will explode on the stage of the Bingham Auditorium, at Gould Academy on Jan. 7, 2010 at 7 p.m. when the Mahoosuc Arts Council welcomes the Fusionworks Dance Company for the second concert in the Gould Performing Arts Series.

Fusionworks Dance Company is known for its gutsy, striking and provocative interpretation of work from an impressive lineup of contemporary choreographers, including award-winning choreographer and Artistic Director Deb Meunier.

The dancers of the six-member troupe each bring intelligence, humor and collaboration to their performances, which range in mood, influence and energy as well as dance techniques. As the name implies, this group infuses a variety of dance elements from classical ballet to modern dance which easily enables both the uninitiated to modern dance to the "dance aficionado" to deeply appreciate the talent and vision of this unique group.

A nonprofit organization that has a 20-year history as the only repertory dance company in Rhode Island, Fusionworks has been critically acclaimed by major media in New England as "magnificent, beautiful and demanding, and presenting concerts that stretch the imagination and soothe the soul."

Commissioned by dance companies throughout the Northeast United States, Meunier is known for her spirit of collaboration that has resulted in innovative work with painters, musicians, sculptors, filmmakers and other choreographers. The dancers include Amy Bardenhagen, Amanda Del Prete, Shaun Edson, Sheramy Keegan-Turcotte, Stephanie Stanford Shaw and Karen Swiatocha.

The Mahoosuc Arts Council is a nonprofit organization.

that has been committed to supporting the advancement of the arts and humanities in the adult communities and school systems of the Greater Bethel Area. The Gould Performing Arts Series will also feature the traditional Andean and music of the Americas of Viva Quetzal, April 8, 2010. Tickets are $10 for adults and $6 for children under 12. Several members of WMSC's fall class of Explorations in Spirituality met at the home of Walter and Beth Brough on Dec. 21 to celebrate the Winter Solstice. Following a potluck supper, the group gathered in the backyard around a bonfire made and supervised by Walter Brough complete with "sparklers."

The group observed the Solstice with selected readings. Members who attended included Judy Huber, Judy Whitman, Mary-Ellen Gartner, Sara Wright, Jackie Cressy, Rosabelle Tift and Beth Brough.

The Explorations in Spirituality class is open to anyone who wishes to explore their spiritual journey in a non-judgmental, open and caring group.

The winter course begins on Friday, Jan. 22, from 10 a.m. to 12 noon at the Gideon Hastings House and will be held every other Friday through March 5. FMI call Jackie Cressy at 824-0508.

Senior College Players in New Year's Bethel

Senior College Players have been invited to participate in the annual New Year's Bethel sponsored by the Bethel Historical Society. The troupe, directed by Lynn Arizzi, will perform three plays beginning at 8 p.m. during intermission of the State Street Traditional Jazz Band program, which starts at 7 p.m. at the West Parish Congregational Church. Three plays to be performed include "The Challenge of Bureaucracy," "Post Cards from Sicily," and "Cornbread and Beans."

These three hilarious skits were presented to a very receptive audience at the Maine Senior College Conference in South Portland in November. Also, if you missed these plays during the Senior College Players' annual fall weekend of theater, performed to standing-room-only audiences, you'll have a chance to see them during New Year's Bethel.

WMSC Winterim Newsletter Be on the lookout for the WMSC Winterim newsletter, which will be in the mail to members next weekend.

You'll see a listing of winter courses as well as several outings and activities to enjoy during the coming winter months.

Obituaries

ELAINE W. ROGERS

Elaine W. Rogers, 89, of South Portland, died Monday, Dec. 28, 2009, at the Gosnell Memorial Hospice House in Scarborough.

Elaine was born in Hanover, the daughter of Wallace and Mabel Godwin Warren. Elaine served during WWII and later received her LPN training from Ballard School. She was a member of Peoples United Methodist Church.

Survivors include her three daughters, Deborah Clark, Sharon McLeod, Barbara Rogers, four sons, Charles, Richard, Peter and Edward Rogers; one sister, Thelma (Betty) Dugas; 15 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. She was predeceased by her husband, Charles E. Rogers in 1967; and sister, Eslyn Bartlett.

Visiting hours will be held from 4-7 p.m. on Friday, Jan. 1, at the Hobbs Funeral Home, 230 Cottage Road, South Portland. A funeral service will take place at 9:30 a.m. on Saturday, Jan. 2, at the Peoples United Methodist Church in South Portland. Interment will follow at Brooklawn Memorial Park in Portland.

ROBERT E. KEENAN

Robert E. Keenan, 83, of Bellingham, Wash., and formerly of Gorham, N.H., died Dec. 23, 2009 of natural causes.

He was born Aug. 10, 1926, in Errol, N.H., the son of Charles and Shirlee (Chadwick) Keenan. He attended school in Berlin, N.H., and was a graduate of Gould Academy in Bethel in 1944. He served in the U.S. Navy during World War II and was married to his childhood sweetheart, Irene Bisson on Aug. 7, 1948.

He was a member of the N.H. State Pistol Team and also served as a member of the Gorham school board. He moved to Bellingham with his wife in 1972, where his employment involved the fabrication of components for the Alaska oil pumping stations and pipeline.

He is survived by his oldest son, Shawn Keenan of Bath; a grandson, Casey of Cambridge, Mass.; and his sister, Barbara MacDougal of Bethel. He was predeceased by his wife of 50 years and his son, Bruce Keenan, both of Bellingham.

FRANK CAMPBELL
Frank Learned Campbell, 79, passed away at home in North Woodstock on Dec. 21, 2009.
He was born in Andover, on Dec. 17, 1930 the son of Arlow Campbell and Addie Learned Campbell.
Frank attended school in South Paris and then served in the U.S. Marine Corps during the Korean War. After military service he worked locally in manufacturing.
He enjoyed retirement and the Portland Sea Dogs. His favorite pastime was the Boston Red Sox, and seeing them win a World Series in his lifetime. Walking his boxer dogs, golf, family and friends was another love of his life.
He married Christine Knights on Nov. 27, 1954, celebrating 55 years of marriage this year.
He is survived by his wife, Christine Campbell of North Woodstock; daughters, Shari Burnham of Hanover, Terri and her husband Rick Angvine of Bethel, Bitty and her husband Stephen Ross of South Paris, Judi and her husband Deven Andrews of Greenwood; and one son, Jeffrey and his wife Deborah Campbell of South Woodstock; ten grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Private services will be held in the spring.
Online condolences may be left for the family at www.andrewsgreenleaf.com.
C. 'CASSIE' MORGAN
Catherine "Cassie" E. Morgan, 86, of the Baston Road, North Yarmouth, passed away on Dec. 22, 2009 at Maine Medical Center, Portland.
She was born in Haverhill, Mass., on Oct. 6, 1923 the daughter of Thomas and Edith (Prescott) Trainor Jr.
Cassie married the late Stanley B. Morgan in 1945 in Bethel.
She enjoyed reading, fishing, wonderful times camping in Reilly Plantation and spending time with her family. She was also a library trustee at the Whitman Memorial Library in Bryant Pond.
Cassie prided herself on always being a "lady."
She was a beloved mother, grandmother and great-grandmother.
Her great-grandchildren called her great-grandmother "up a ditty" because she could always sit on the floor and get up with grace and ease.
Catherine is survived by her son, Thomas and his wife Jeanne of South Paris; daughter, Donna Smith and her husband Norman of North Yarmouth; grandchildren, Shanda Morgan, Thomas Morgan, Christa Ayer, S. Andrew Smith; and seven great-grandchildren.
Cassie was predeceased by her parents; husbands, Stanley B. Morgan and Norman LaJoie; and a sister, Edith Paul.
A graveside service will be held at Lakeside Cemetery in Bryant Pond in the spring.
In Catherine's memory donations may be made to the Whitman Memorial Library, 28 South Main Street, Bryant Pond, Maine 04219.

IRENE M. VARHOLA
Irene M. Varhola, 85, of Margate, Fla., and Greenwood, Maine, went to be with the Lord on Christmas Eve 2009.
She was born in Cleveland, Ohio on March 21, 1924 a daughter of John and Frances (Sceranka) Masarik.
Irene was educated in Cleveland, Ohio, schools and was a graduate of John Hay High School. She married the love of her life Steve Varhola on June 26, 1942 and together they celebrated 60 years of marriage and raised five children.
Irene was a devoted wife, mother, and homemaker. As her children started school, she held various jobs and retired from the US Postal Service in 1973.
She was a communicant of St. Vincent Catholic Church in Margate, Fla., and Our Lady of the Snows in Bethel, Maine.
Irene loved cooking, sewing, embroidering and feeding the squirrels and chipmunks.

Surviving are her five children, Steve Varhola of West Palm Beach, Fla., Christina Dimatteo and husband Ronald B. of Margate Fla., William Varhola and wife Maureen of Weatherford, Texas, Patricia Margadonna and husband David R. of Margate, Fla., Loretta Mikols and husband Paul J. of Greenwood, Maine; a sister, Eleanore Cimino of Port Orange, Fla.; Emil Masarik of Margate, Fla.; six grandchildren, Theresa Fulgham, David A. Taylor, Jennifer Nicholas, Sandra Hirschhorn, Nicholas Varhola, and Erik Varhola; and four great-grandchildren, Randy Nicholas, Dylan Nicholas, Gage Varhola, and Erica Phin Hirschhorn. She was predeceased by her parents; her husband, Steve G. Varhola; and a brother, Peter Paul Masarik.
A Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated Tuesday, Dec. 29, at Our Lady of the Snows Catholic Church, Bethel. In lieu of flowers contributions in her memory may be made to American Lung Association, 122 State Street, Augusta, ME 04330 or the Macular Degeneration Foundation Inc., PO Box 5131313, Henderson, NV 89053.
In lieu of flowers contributions in her memory may be made to the American Lung Assoc. of Maine, 122 State Street, Augusta, ME 04330 or the Macular Degeneration Foundation Inc., PO Box 5131313, Henderson, NV 89053.

THANK YOU

I would like to thank Mr. Murphy, Nina Wheeler, Teller Staff, Percy, a very good friend, the Rotary Club and Maine Line Products for all their generous donations to help a child who needs help for Christmas. It truly warms our hearts to know we live in a beautiful community that cares and works hard to bring these children happiness on such a wonderful day. You're all angels with a big heart.
Thank You
Rocky Berry
